You can enhance most any workout — from weight training to yoga to cardiovascular workouts — by strapping extra weight to your wrists or your ankles. And these straps are fully adjustable for a customisable workout session.

These weight straps are designed and manufactured by Randy & Travis Machinery, a leader in sports and outdoor equipment. The RTM name is synonymous with tough: these straps are made from a reinforced heavy-duty nylon.

Equipping the straps to either your wrists or your ankles is a breeze thanks to one-size-fits-all Velcro. The straps are also surprisingly comfortable with a special outer mesh. You can customise your weight from 1kg to 5kg per strap (total of 10kg) with the included weight packs. Start low, and then add weight over time as you become more fit.
