

Rectangular-Shaped Table Bench Desk Legs Retro Industrial Design Fully Welded - White

RRP: $444.95

If you have a tabletop or desktop that's perfectly useful, but it needs a bit of an update, these industrial-chic table legs by Della Francesca are the perfect solution. A lighter take on industrial style, these striking table legs will transform your table or desk into a contemporary work of art that will become the focal point of your room. With their rectangular profile, they lend a geometric element to your overall design. With their neutral colour, they will pair beautifully with practically any tabletop and any home colour scheme.

Although their white colour gives them a breezier look than the standard black, underneath that delicate white powder coating is solid iron, supporting up to 200 kg in weight. They're designed to last, making them the perfect accessory for a handmade table or a quick update for your existing furnishings. With pre-drilled holes and pre-welded support plate connections, they're the ideal choice for even a beginning DIYer. Rust-resistant and crafted to hold up even under hard use, these table legs can last for a lifetime. Attach the included foot pads to prevent scratches and dents on your floor. They're the perfect gift for the DIY aficionado in your life and a stunning finishing touch for a handmade heirloom. Order yours today!
