Massage Gun 4 Heads Massager Vibration Muscle Percussion Therapy Tissue

RRP: $149.95

After a hard day's work or a workout at the gym or at home, there's nothing like a deep massage to get you into relaxation mode. Instead of paying out the big bucks to a therapist in a high-end spa, you can get the same results in the comfort of your own home with this percussion massage gun from Randy & Travis Machinery. Even better, you'll pay only a little more than a single session from your massage therapist for the equipment to give you a massage every day of the week!

Call it magic in a box. With its high-torque motor, this massage gun puts out bursts of pressure that can penetrate deep inside your tired, sore muscles for complete relief. It's whisper-quiet yet works at percussive bursts per minute, well more than any human therapist could administer. And, with its rechargeable eight-hour battery, you can take it along to the gym or on a long hike so that you can have a massage right after intense physical activity, before your muscles have a chance to stiffen and get sore. In fact, many athletes use it for a light pre-workout massage to aid in warming up their muscles before a workout or competition. With 6 speed levels and four interchangeable heads, you can tailor your massage to specific areas of your body for a customised massage experience. Don't spend a dollar more at your neighbourhood spa. Order your custom massage experience today!
