

Metal Tree of Life Wall Art 7 Flying Birds Wall Sculpture

RRP: $104.95

The Randy & Travis Machinery metal wall sculpture portraying the Tree of Life encapsulates the interdependence of all living beings while making a profound visual statement on your wall. Seven airborne birds gracefully traverse the tree, aligning themselves in a mesmerizing aerial formation.

This meticulously crafted wall decoration is handmade from iron metal and boasts generous dimensions of 30 x 49 cm. This metal wall sculpture, titled "New Life Birds," showcases an abstract forest scene in a charming retro vintage style, suitable for mounting on any wall surface.

Crafted from premium metal materials, the piece boasts durability and resistance to fading. Each branch is meticulously shaped from high-quality iron, allowing it to find its place in various settings, be it the living room, family room, bedroom, bathroom, office, kitchen, dining room, game room, or bar.

This stylish wall art arrives fully assembled and effortlessly graces your home or office. With a convenient hanging hole and included screws for wall mounting, it can be easily hung as a solo accent or integrated into your wall art ensemble.

Every intricate detail is carefully hand-painted, lending an aura of elegance to your wall. As a thoughtful gesture, it makes for an ideal gift for occasions such as birthdays, New Year, Christmas, Valentine's Day, and Mother's Day, offering a touch of refined charm to the recipient's space.
